

Invited Speaker

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Chatchawal Wongchoosuk
Kasetsart University, Thailand

Chatchawal Wongchoosuk received the PhD and MSc degrees from Mahidol University and the BSc degree with first class honors in Physics from Prince of Songkla University, Thailand in 2011, 2007, and 2005, respectively. Currently, he is assistant professor at Department of Physics, Faculty of Science, Kasetsart University, Bangkok, Thailand. He is a specialist in development of smart sensors and intelligent systems for food, agricultural and environmental applications. He has received over 20 research awards. He has published several dozens of articles in journals and three book chapters with four patents. He acted as an editor in international books and special issue in an ISI journal. He has served as a reviewer over 18 ISI journals such as ACS Materials and Interfaces, Sensors and Actuators B: Chemical, Journal of Applied Physics, Applied Surface Science, Applied Physics Letters, Crystal Growth & Design, IEEE Sensors Journal, Food Research International, RSC Advances, Organics Electronics, etc.